

Introduction

- Each and every academic institution should have a well-managed library and a qualified librarian to serve and ensure effective information service to its clientele
- The academic, public and special libraries have been providing various services and the librarian should act as leader, teacher, educator, instructional partner, resource manager, information specialist, and program administrator.

